Supplemental Allowance of Application # 09/844,671

1. The following communication is in response to Applicant's approval of the amendments to the specification and the claims proposed by the Examiner in response to the Notice of Withdrawal mailed on 25-April-2006. This communication intends to overcome the proposed 35 U.S.C. § 101 rejections raised in view of the new interim guidelines for subject matter eligibility.

Examiner's Amendment

2. An Examiner's Amendment to the record appears below. Should the changes and/or additions be unacceptable to applicant, an amendment may be filed as provided by 37 C.F.R. 1.312. To ensure consideration of such an amendment, it MUST be submitted no later than the payment of the Issue Fee. Authorization for this Examiner's Amendment was given by Bill Galliani (Reg. No. 33,885) on 1-May-2006.

2.1 In the Specification:

Page 27 line 6 Change "brach/jump/operate" to --branch/jump/operate--.

Page 47 line 3 Delete "and as a computer data signal embodied in a computer usable (e.g., readable) transmission medium (e.g., carrier wave or any other medium including digital, optical or analog-based medium)".

2.2 In the Claims:

Reasons for Allowance

3. The following is an Examiner's Statement of Reasons for the indication of allowable subject matter. The instant application is directed to a non-obvious improvement over the invention described in U.S. Patent No. 6,145,123 to Torrey, which is directed to tracing program execution in information processing system by turning trace functions on and off using breakpoint register architecture.

The improvement comprises a system and method for tracing instructions in a microprocessor core that supports execution of instructions in a plurality of instruction pipelines, wherein trace data for one or more instructions in a group of instructions issued together is held until all of the instructions in the group execute in the plurality of instruction pipelines, wherein information enabling determination of a static schedule of the group is transmitted along with trace data for the group, the static schedule indicating instruction execution sequence in the multiple instruction pipelines. This patentable distinction is included in each of the independent claims, nos. 1, 9, 17, and 18.

In a further embodiment, claim 21 includes an improvement for generating trace data associated with a plurality of instructions having a program order, wherein each of the plurality of instructions is executed by one of a plurality of instruction pipelines, and wherein the generated trace data includes program order information that enables a trace capture component to determine a relative order between instructions that were completed out of order by respective instruction pipelines.

The art of record, either individually or in combination, fails to teach, suggest, or render obvious the useful, concrete and tangible <method for tracing instructions in a microprocessor core> having the corresponding structure which is disclosed in the specification and equivalents thereof at least at page 3, paragraph 1016 through page 47, paragraph 1166, and Figures 1-9.

In view of the foregoing, the claims of the present application are found to be patentable over the prior art.
